A driveway to success

Every aspect of your home should express your personality, and your driveway is no exception to the rule. It creates the first impression of your property _ but what does your driveway say about you?

Australian Garden and Driveway's Design was founded in 1980 by director Nick Florio, and his company has become a leader in driveway design.

The company's revolutionary new product is made from stabilised Lilydale toppings, is exceptionally durable, value for money, extremely versatile and creates a natural stone look for your driveway.

It's a fabulous alternative to concrete or asphalt. As driveways are not always flat, the revolutionary mixture copes extremely well with slopes and is formulated to suit your specific driveway and garden design requirements.

Even driveway maintenance is a breeze. Don't panic if you have a petrol or oil spill, because customers are given a simple solution that removes stains effortlessly and causes no damage to the driveway.

To incorporate the natural look of your garden and new driveway, Australian Garden and Driveway Design also offers a landscaping design service.
